PROMOS Expands Management Board and Appoints Lukas Kramer as Chief Financial Officer

Berlin, March 3, 2026 – PROMOS consult Projektmanagement, Organisation und Service GmbH strengthens its executive management team by appointing Lukas Kramer (30) as Chief Financial Officer (CFO). With this decision, PROMOS marks another milestone in the consistent implementation of its long-term corporate strategy. PROMOS consult is an SAP system house providing consulting, solution development and implementation, training, as well as full-service IT services including its own data center.

In his new role as CFO, Lukas Kramer assumes responsibility for the company's financial management, the further development of KPI-based management models, and end-to-end accountability for central processes. In addition, he oversees governance topics, the company's cloud strategy as an operational and scaling model, and the financial safeguarding of strategic decisions.

With the introduction of the CFO role, PROMOS establishes a modern leadership structure. Jens Kramer, Managing Director & Co-Founder of PROMOS, comments: "With Lukas Kramer, we are gaining a CFO who thinks far beyond traditional finance functions. He stands for transparency, controllability, and sustainable scaling – exactly what we need for PROMOS' next stage of development."

Previously, Lukas Kramer served for several years as Managing Director and COO of a privately owned corporate group. In this role, he successfully led the company's scaling while maintaining high financial excellence. His key focus areas included the development of KPI-driven management models, optimization of financial and governance structures, and leadership of growing hybrid organizations and international teams.
